PEAGE SOCIETY WILL BE ORGANIZED HERE

Organization of a permanent peace society will be effected at a meeting to be held in Richmond next week. The object of the society will be to aid in the promotion of peace among the nations of the world. A number of prominent citizens and officials of Richmond are interested in the move-ment. The date and place of the meeting will be announced later.

The ravival which has been in progress at Immanuel Baptist Church for two weeks closed last night with a service of special interest. There was a large congregation and Rev. Mr. Deano's last sermon was an especially good one. He made an earnest and tender appeal to the unsaved to accept Christ. Two young men, brothers, responded, and joined the church.

Rev. Mr. Stone, the pastor, will preach at both services on Sunday.

Richmond Merchants Might Help Railroads to Relieve Freight-Yard Congestion.

ARE ADVERTISING JAMESTOWN

Norfolk and Western Buying Coal Cars by the Thousand, Other Notes.

The Southern Railway has just put

Several of the railway men in Richmond compian that the merchants who receive goods in carload lots are as much to blame for the crowded condition of the yards and the tracks as the railroads. It is often the case, they declare, that merchants are slow to unload the cars after they have been put in place for unloading, and even sometimes use their as storage houses for their goods, finding it profits them more to pay the penalty than to unload, and, of course, while the cars are being so used other cars are held back, and thus the yards get crowded up. It seems to be purely a matter of business with the shipper rather than a matter of accommodating a brother shipper or helping the railways to relieve the congestion in the yards.

For a car the consignees have to pay the companies $1 a day after the first forty-eight hours, and if they were to unload the goods, store them and then to receive an order for the car of stuff it would have to be handled a second time. This would cost more than $1 a day. The cars are, therefore, cheaper, and when orders are received for a car of stuff it is at once reconsigned and the dealer here is rid of the trouble of hauling, handling and billing a second time, and there is the additional benefit of having the goods ready loaded when the orders are received, but in the meantime other shippers are kicking, and the yards are blocked to the choking point.

The Norfolk and Western Railway Company has this week placed an order with the Western Steel Car and Foundry with the w

The Norfolk and Western Railway Company has this week placed an order with the Western Steel Car and Foundry Company, of Hedgewisch, Ill., for 1,000 forty-ton hopper cars, and an order with its shop at Roanoke for 243 forty-ton flat cars. This is in addition to the recent order given to its shops at Roanoke for 1,500 coal cars and 25 cabooses.

Railroad presidents now in Chlcago, on the whole, do not view the legislative situation with ahrm. Presdent Winehell, of Rock Island, says it is too early to judge the effect of recent legislation. He says a situation wherein the costs of everything except transportation are increased will, however, affect the business of the entire country.

President B. L. Winchell, of the Rock Island system, says concerning the rallroad situation: "If the Interstate Commerce Commission does its work wisely and sancly, as I believe it will. wisely and sanely, as I believe it will, the railroads have nothing to fear. They will get justice, which is all they ask. I am relying upon the sound sense of fairness of the American people to stof, before the situation becomes acute financially. It is a mistake to say that the railroads are retallating by reducing their service and abandoning great enterprise. It is simple prudence, a bowing to the storm. We are forced to stop building new lines, buying new cars and other simple prudence, a bowing to the storm. We are forced to stop building new lines, buying new cars and other equipment, until we know where the money is coming from. It is simply business sense and not retaliation."

Forty-seven thousand men, the membership of the Brotherhood of Rail-way Trainmen west of Denver, are voting on a strike to enforce demands way Trainmen west of Denver, are voting on a strike to enforce demands for increased wages. The poli, the most extensive movement towards a general strike since the American Railway Union tie-up of 1894, has not been finished. Indications are that the last ballots will reach the national headquarters at Cleveland, O., about March 25th. The issue seems to depend mainly upon the position taken by the Switchmen's Union, which as an organization is not recognized, it is said, by either the railroad managers or the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

Dealers Here Inclined to Think That End of Slump Has Now Come.

The Southern Railway has just put out a magnificent and costly engraving by way of advertising the Jamestown Exposition and its line thereto, the beautiful picture is made from a prize design drawn by Miss Ruth Sypherd Clements, an accomplished young artist of Alexandria, who has done a great deal of splendid work in connection with the Jamestown Exposition. The design represents John Smith planting the English ensign on the shores of the James at Jamestown and a picture of Pocahontas, looking on in wonder.

Several of the railway men in Richmond complain that the merchants who receive goods in carload lots are as much to blame for the crowded condition of the yards and the tracks as the railroads. It is often the case, they declare, that merchants are slow to unload the cares after they have been put in place for unloading and even sometimes use them as storage houses for their goods, finding it profits them more to pay the penalty than to unload, and, of course, while the cars are being so used other cars are being so used other cars are held back, and thus they ards get crowded up. It seems to be purely a matter of business with the shipper rather than a matter of accommodating a brother shipper of helping the railways to relieve the congestion in the yards.

For a car the consistness have to pay the companies $1 a day after the first forty-eight hours, and if they were to unload the goods, store them and then to receive an order for the car of stuff it would have to be handled a second time. This would cost more than $1 a day. The cars are, therefore, cheaper, and when orders are received for a car of stuff it is at once reconsigned and the dealer here is rid of the trouble of hauling, handling and billing a second the condition of the stock and of bonds $3,755,000. Optimistic Richmond traders are inclined to think that yesterday saw the end of the slump, and that there will now follow a better feeling and in time a full restoration of confidence. However, they look for dull business for some time to come.

The slump and the trading done while it was on have left several men somewhat poorer than they were, and the sunshine that came from the boards yesterday could not meit away all the clouds overshadowing the faces to be seen in the marts. The slump has undoubtedly left its scars here and there. But, so far as any one knows, few have been crippled badly. That is one of the peculiar features of this panic. There have been no failures. In New York this is accounted for by the fact that it has been generally regarded as a "rich man's panic," all the heavy loosers being able in a financial way to stand the losses. It may be the same way in Richmond.

Cattle Quarantined.

The quarantine against Southern cattle goes into effect to-day, and remains in force until December 15th. This quarantine law is to guard against various diseases which are prevalent among cattle in the South during the months mentioned.

The open season, which has just closed, lasts from December 15th to March 15th. The James River is the northern boundary of the territory which the quarantine is against.
